

Call for Student Video Submissions on Smart Grid Communications

The IEEE SmartGridComm 2015 (SGC2015) Committee is pleased to invite your participation in the 6th IEEE International Conference on Smart Grid Communications. The conference will be held in Miami Florida, USA on 2-5 November 2015. It seeks to bring together researchers and practitioners from academia, industry and governmental institutions from around the world who are leveraging and developing Information and Communication technologies for the Intelligent Grid with emphasis on the economic, environmental, and societal benefits.

The conference includes four symposiums:

- S1. Communications and Networks to Enable the Smart Grid
- S2. Cyber Security and Privacy
- S3. Architectures, Control and Operation for Smart Grids and Microgrids
- S4. Data Management, Grid Analytics, and Dynamic Pricing

IEEE SmartGridComm 2015 also provides workshops/tutorials in general terms. A special feature of IEEE SmartGridComm 2015 is a Student Video Competition. Prospective research students are invited to submit entries for the SGC2015 Video Competition on any aspect of IEEE SmartGridComm as outlined at <http://sgc2015.ieee-smartgridcomm.org/student-competition>.

A $500.00 USD award will be presented to the winner(s) of the winning video.

SELECTION PROCESS

- Approval of video. Videos will be screened by a jury for compliance with the scope of the competition as outlined above.
- Approved videos. The approved videos will be posted on the IEEE SmartGridComm website, where visitors will be able to vote.
- Top 3 videos. The top 3 voted videos will be selected.

Note that only students are eligible to participate.

AWARDS

The winning video will be decided by the selection committee, from the 3 top voted videos and will be announced on the conference website on the date specified.

There are also a limited number of student travel grants to assist students to attend the conference. Applications for travel grants should be sent to Hao Liang (hao2@ualberta.ca). For details, please see <http://sgc2015.ieee-smartgridcomm.org/content/student-travel-grants>.
